CALIFORNIA'S

Cream of the Crop

The latest design collaborations and introductions from the state known for its modern take on all things classic

HOM by Cisco Brothers Alkira Accessory Chair, $3,540.

LOS ANGELES

Naturally Fabulous

It doesn't get more eco-friendly than the collaboration between architecture and design firm KAA Design Group and sustainable home furnishings manufacturer, Cisco Brothers. In its premiere collection of tables, dining and lounge chairs, HOM by Cisco Brothers is destined for chic outdoor fetes from Santa Monica to Berkeley. homlifestyle.com. A.S.

SAN FRANCISCO

Material Interest

Suzanne Tucker recently launched a stunning new line of fine decorative textiles—the first pieces in her Suzanne Tucker Home collection. "The concept was a rich range of silk damasks, linens and cottons that would be versatile in today's interiors," says the S.F.-based designer. tuckerandmarks.com. D.D.S.

Arts and Crafts

Entrusted with the delicate restoration of the Palm Springs Kaufmann House, Los Angeles architecture firm Marmol Radziner excels in meticulous construction. Most recent, a cadre of master craftsmen is behind the Vienna Way collection of furniture and lighting—initially designed for the family home of principal Ron Radziner in Venice Beach—all built from an in-house workshop. marmol-radziner.com. A.S.

Marmol Radziner Blown Glass Lamp, $3,500.

LOS ANGELES

On the Edge

The debut collection from Meier/Ferrer is a marvel in design and fabrication. Designed by Ana Meier and produced by Charlie Ferrer, the finely-crafted minimalist line was on view last month at Melrose Place's LeadApron. Thrilled with the positive response from the L.A. design community, the duo has confirmed plans to establish a permanent West Coast showroom. meierferrer.com. A.S.
